

JAMES BROWNLEE.

JANUARY 6, 1832.

Mr. MUHLENBURG, from the Committee on Revolutionary Claims, made the following

REPORT:

The Committee on Revolutionary Claims, to which was referred the petition of James Brownlee, report:

The petitioner states that he is the only heir of his mother, who was the widow of Alexander Brownlee, an Ensign of the army of the revolution, slain in the battle of Guilford, and prays to be paid the seven years' half pay to which his mother was entitled by a resolve of Congress, passed May 23, 1778.

It appears, from evidence satisfactory to the committee, that Alexander Brownlee did hold the commission of an Ensign in the continental establishment; that he was a meritorious officer; that he was slain, as stated, in the battle of Guilford; that the half pay to which his widow was entitled has never been drawn; and that the petitioner is the sole heir. A bill is therefore reported for his relief.
